On March 18th, students from the Bowling Green campus of CBGS installed a living shoreline at Port Royal. This was part of a collaboration with Friends of the Rappahannock that restored a shoreline by planting native wetland plants at a public boat launch.